BETWEEN HUMAN THOUGHT AND ESCHATOLOGY

Professor: Marek Urban

DESCRIPTION

Life and love are able to overcome all opposition and eliminate duality. Man can find in himself the freedom that distinguishes him from other beings. With regard to the absolute he becomes the image and reflection of the infinite subject that lifts him completely. History is the process of discovering a living God in which man can constantly develop, using his strength as it were. The question of philosophical reason, of whether it is itself able to achieve eschatological unity, remains open.
